Grant Name: American Urological Association Accepting Applications for Health Policy Scholars Program

Summary: The American Urological Association is accepting applications for its 2015-16 Gallagher Health Policy Scholars program. The annual program is designed to prepare the next generation of urologists to assume key roles in the health policy arena through intensive training. Gallagher Scholars spend up to 30 days away from their practice for intensive training on a wide range of health policy issues. Training includes mentoring from seasoned physician volunteers, participation in key meetings and conferences, study of selected didactic articles, and completion of a health policy project as outlined by the Public Policy Council. A stipend of $15,000 and reimbursement for travel and other expenses will be provided over the course of the year-long program.

Eligibility: Applicants must be AUA-member urologists.

Dates: Applications are due by October 16, 2015.

---

Grant Name: Institute of International Education Invites Applications for Boren Scholarships and Fellowships

Summary: An initiative of the National Security Education Program, the Boren Awards provide funding for United States undergraduate and graduate students to study in world regions critical to U.S. interests, including Africa, Asia, Central and Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin America, and the Middle East.

Boren scholars and fellows represent a variety of academic backgrounds, but all are interested in studying less commonly taught languages, including but not limited to Arabic, Chinese, Korean, Portuguese, Russian, and Swahili. As part of the African Languages Initiative, Boren Award applicants have the opportunity to further their study of Akan/Twi, French, Hausa, Portuguese, Swahili, Wolof, Yoruba, or Zulu.

Boren Scholarships provide up to $20,000 to U.S. undergraduate students to study abroad in areas of the world that are critical to U.S. interests and under-represented in study abroad programs. Boren Fellowships provide up to $30,000 to U.S. graduate students to add an important international and language component to their graduate education through specialization in area study, language study, or increased language proficiency. In exchange for funding, recipients commit to working in the federal government for a minimum of one year.

Eligibility: Eligible applicants are undergraduate and graduate students.

Dates: Although deadlines at individual institutions may vary, the application deadline for the Institute for International Education is February 9, 2016 for undergraduate students, and January 28, 2016 for graduate students.